

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A pixel electrode is formed in the pixel area defined by longitudinal data lines and transverse gate lines, and has openings. Projections made up of a gate insulating film and a passivation film are formed under the pixel electrode, and a gate pattern is formed under the projections. This gate pattern is formed to be wider than the projections to fully cover texture around the projections.

5

TOC230" / SH07633